

Pennys make 'cents' to support Childline

IRELAND'S Fittest Family coach and All Ireland-winning camogie star Anna Geary teamed up with ISPC Childline and Penneys to celebrate a partnership which makes it easy for Penneys customers to support children and young people across Ireland. From February 17 to 23, Penneys Makes Cents will present customers with a chance to 'Add a little. Do a lot' for Ireland's national listening service for children.

Over 380,000 calls, texts and online contacts are made by children and young people every year to Childline's free phone line, live text and web chat services. Children call Childline for many reasons: they might be lonely, upset, worried or scared, they might have experienced trauma or abuse, or they might simply just wish to talk about their day. When children contact Childline, they are seeking a listening ear and often feel as though they have nowhere else to turn.

At Penneys stores across the country, including in Fingal, from February 17 to 23, customers will have the opportunity to donate 50 cent or more to Ireland's only 24-hour listening service for children when purchasing their items. ISPC's Childline service will receive 100 per cent of all donations raised through Penneys Makes Cents.

Anna Geary said: 'I am delighted to support this fantastic partnership between ISPC Childline and Penneys.'

'With the support of Penneys and its customers, the vital Childline service will be there for every child and young person in Ireland at every hour of every day and night in 2019 and beyond.

'Children and young people can contact Childline by call, text or chat and it makes perfect sense for Penneys to highlight that.'

ISPC CEO John Church said: 'ISPC Childline is really delighted Penneys is once again supporting us through the innovative Penneys Makes Cents campaign.'

'Penneys has generously helped Childline listen to children and young people for many years and we're very grateful for their continued support.'

Primark Director of People and Culture, Ciara Ruane, said: 'We're delighted to support Childline's fantastic work for the sixth year through the Penneys Makes Cents campaign.'

'We know our customers love supporting this worthy cause just as much as we do.'

To help keep Childline listening to children and young people, drop into your local Penneys store between February 17th and 23rd and donate 50 cent or more to ISPC Childline.

The ISPC (Irish Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children) is the national child protection charity. The ISPC delivers innovative child-centred services in a number of locations throughout Ireland. Childline is Ireland's only 24-hour listening service for children and young people. It is free, confidential and non-judgmental, providing support to children across Ireland.

Liam is in a Whirlpool of delight after winning Londis contest

LONDIS and Whirlpool have combined to make one lucky Malahide customer a very happy man indeed.

Londis, which has a number of stores right here in Fingal, were the proud sponsors of an RTE cookery programme late last year, hosted by Catherine Fulvio, called 'Tastes Like Home'.

To celebrate that sponsorship, the chain of stores hooked up with Whirlpool to offer Londis customers a chance to win a great prize.

There were winners all over the country, and Liam Phelan, a customer of Shiel's Londis PLUS Malahide, was one of the lucky national winners of the Londis and Whirlpool competition.

The competition was run in conjunction with the Londis sponsored RTE One programme 'Tastes Like Home' with Catherine Fulvio, which aired in November and December.

The competition offered Londis customers the opportunity to win a state of the art oven and combi set from Whirlpool. Congratulations Liam!

Declan Boyle, Londis Regional Manager, Rufina Shiel, Shiel's Londis PLUS Malahide with winner Liam Phelan; and John Shiel also from Shiel's Londis Malahide.

Maxol customers in Fingal raised lots of cash for Irish charity Aware

MAXOL'S customers in County Dublin, including right here in Fingal demonstrated great generosity in the run up to Christmas by contributing to a whopping total of €62,000 raised for the charity Aware, bringing the total funds raised by Maxol nationally to €120,000 for 2018.

Getting onboard with Maxol's ROSA coffee charity campaign meant that a 10-cent donation was made for every purchase of Maxol's exclusive ROSA coffee, as well as tea and other hot drinks, in November and December 2018.

Maxol's ROSA coffee has been a hit with local customers and commuters alike and the two-month campaign saw their target donation of €60,000 exceeded. It follows a number of successful fundraising drives run by Maxol including a 'top up your purchase' initiative in August 2018 which raised a further €25,000.

Maxol's partnership with Aware began in 2016. Aware provides support, education and information services for those impacted by depression, bipolar disorder and mood-related conditions.
